PEARL RIVER
Southern China’s Pearl River Delta is located on Hong Kong’s doorstep. The region is home to some fascinating cities with rich heritage, stunning hotels and delicious cuisine.

Guangdong Province’s capital Guangzhou is steeped in Cantonese tradition and is the birthplace of world-renowned delicacies such as dim sum. Nearby, Macau epitomises an east-meets-west flavour with its Portuguese architecture and modern Vegas-style casinos.

Just an hour away from downtown Hong Kong is Shenzhen, a city boasting great shopping opportunities and several theme parks. Leisure travellers can also explore the Delta’s numerous world-class golf clubs, many of which have five-star accommodation and resort facilities.
As a Portuguese enclave for several centuries, Macau has been profoundly affected by southern European influences. Blue and white porcelain street signs are commonplace, saffron-coloured and white-washed houses line cobbled pavements, and Macanese food has a flavour all of its own.

The historic centre of Macau was recently added to UNESCO’s prestigious list of world heritage sites. With its ancient streets, residential, religious and public Portuguese and Chinese buildings, the territory provides a unique testimony to the meeting of aesthetic, cultural and architectural influences.

MACAU’S WHEEL OF FORTUNE

Macau is a city bursting with excitement. Just an hour away from Hong Kong by high-speed ferry, the place has reinvented itself as the entertainment capital of southern China.

Macau attracts global superstars to its shores and hosts world-class events such as the annual Formula 3 grand prix, major music concerts and international firework competitions. The sparkling new casinos and resorts are also home to some great restaurants as well as entertainment shows. There’s even bungee jumping from the 338-metre Macau Tower.

Nevertheless, the quieter side of the city is still home to one of the best preserved historic centres. With 28 historic monuments and eight squares, visitors can easily stroll from one to the next and enjoy centuries-worth of heritage. Favourite tourist sights include the Ruin’s of St Paul’s Church with the walls of the 17th-century Mount Fortress looming above, Na Tcha and Ah-Ma temples and several fascinating museums.

MACAU • FAST FACTS & MISCELLANEOUS

PEARL RIVER DELTA - FAST FACTS & MISCELLANEOUS
Traditionally the richest province in China, Guangdong, with its major cities and Special Economic Zones, has quite literally been transformed into the most important global manufacturing centre. Its success also signalled the arrival of world-class golf course, hotels and resorts. Through the Pearl River Delta, these are also plenty of shopping, entertainment and dining opportunities to sample.

When you combine the enterprise of Guangdong with the international expertise of nearby Macau and Hong Kong, the whole delta region represents a formidable, entertainment, business and industrial district.

SHENZHEN

Across the border from Hong Kong lies the burgeoning city of Shenzhen. Aside from being a busy, modern metropolis that boasts retail attractions like Lo Wu Commercial Shopping Centre, it also features some excellent hotels, temples and intriguing theme parks. There is Splendid China and also the China Folk Cultural Village. Nearby Window of the World has also reproduced the world’s most famous monuments in miniature. Shenzhen is a shopping heaven and the perfect place for travellers who want to get a feel for fast-paced life in Southern China.

SPLENDID CHINA

One of Shenzhen’s most popular attractions. Highlights include numerous and detailed replicas of China’s most famous natural and man-made sights. It is the largest of its kind in the world and provides the opportunity for visitors to learn more about China and its history.

CHINA FOLK CULTURAL VILLAGE

Nearby, Splendid China is this additional tribute to Chinese architecture. Model villages represent those found all around the country particularly from various ethnic groups.

GUANGZHOU

As Southern China’s biggest and most important city, Guangzhou (formerly known as Canton) is not only a centre of commerce but also a magnet for travellers from around the world. Situated on the Pearl River, Guangzhou offers travellers a sense of what Cantonese culture represents - and a belly full of the world’s best dim sum. The city has some great nightlife and excellent dining possibilities. It is equipped with a state-of-the-art airport and good travel connections.

LOTUS MOUNTAIN

Located in Panyu District, Lotus Mountain is a former quarry site that is known for its breathtaking scenery. A walk around the mountain offers views of rock formations and one of China’s tallest outdoor Kwan Yin (Goddess of Compassion) statues.
